GRADUATE STUDENT HANDBOOK

College of Art & Sciences

The University of Louisville has a number of distinct units, called colleges. Within these colleges are departments. As a graduate student, you are a student member of a department as well as a student member of a college.

The College of Arts and Sciences (A&S) is the largest undergraduate college at UofL. The College offers an M.A. and M.S. in 26 disciplines, an MFA in Theatre Arts and a Ph.D. in 10 disciplines. A complete listing of all graduate programs offered in the College of Arts and Sciences is found in the next pages.

The College's goals for students are that all students undertake research so that they experience the excitement of new knowledge and change; that all students be exposed to major ethical dilemmas they will face in the world; and that all students look at the world through the eyes of someone different from themselves.

The purpose of this handbook is to give you a sense of the College of Arts & Sciences, your college, and its many facilities and activities available to you as a student. It will serve as a quick access guide to information that may be of use to you while studying at the University and also includes some information about Louisville for those new to the city.

At the end of the handbook you will find a blank page that we have left for your notes and suggestions. Please take this opportunity to share with us any questions or suggestions you have for this handbook.

Welcome to UofL, and especially, to the College of Arts and Sciences!

Mission Statement

The mission of the College of Arts and Sciences is to improve life in the Commonwealth and particularly in the greater Louisville urban area, creating knowledge through its research, sharing knowledge through its teaching, and guiding all its students to realize their potential.

We believe that an excellent education in the liberal arts and sciences is the best preparation for life and work in a world of increasing diversity and ever-accelerating change because it prepares our graduates to be informed and critical thinkers, creative problem-solvers, and confident communicators.

Our students learn by doing: They conduct research and express their creativity, include ethical considerations in their thinking, and experience the world from the perspectives of other cultures. The College brings the heritage of the intellectual tradition to bear on the challenges of the future.

Academic Policies

The governing document for graduate students is the graduate catalog. This book contains all the rules and regulations that concern graduate students. It is available in hard copy or you can view it online. The catalog is updated regularly and the most recent version is available online at

It is the responsibility of the graduate student to become familiar with and observe all policies and requirements of the Graduate School and of his or her particular degree program and department. Policies, procedures, and requirements are subject to change. It is the responsibility of graduate students to keep apprised of current regulations. All students must respond to official notices issued by administrative offices and instructors, whether these notices be posted on official bulletin boards, are sent by e-mail or snail mail (U.S. Postal Service).

All graduate students are expected to make steady and satisfactory progress toward the completion of degrees. Students who fail to enroll for a period of more than 12 months will be considered to have withdrawn from the program. Students who seek to return after such a period of time are required to apply to their departments for readmission. Based on the request of the department, the Dean of the Graduate School will consider the student for readmission.

Prior to reapplying, students should speak with their department. Students may submit a reenrollment form to the Office of the Registrar if it has been less than two years since their last enrollment.

Graduate Student Association

The Graduate Student Association (GSA), governed by the Graduate Student Council (GSC), is a member of the Student Government Association (SGA). The GSA provides official channels for the administration of graduate student affairs and the budget allotted by the SGA. The GSA provides the following through council meetings:

- Forum of communication between graduate student populations.
- Opportunity to participate in the formation and revisions of budgetary and administrative policies.
- Open communication with the Officers of the GSC who represent the GSA at SGA Student Senate Meetings.
- A means to educate graduate students of their rights, responsibilities and privileges.
- A reservoir of interested students for appointment to University committees.

The Graduate Student Council's (GSC) goal is to address issues that are important to graduate students at the University of Louisville — issues like travel stipend increases, research assistance programs and making sure that graduate students are appropriately represented in all areas of the university. There are issues that concern graduate students in all departments that may be able to be addressed by the GSC. However, to bring about change requires your involvement and participation in the Graduate Student Council.

To participate you can simply sign on to the GSC listserv and give your opinion in the on-line discussions. You can choose to represent your department or organization as a member of GSC. You may even decide to sit on a committee or become a GSC officer. Regardless of the level of participation - you, as a graduate student, should participate. Through your participation better benefits and research climates can and will be achieved.

To join the GSC listserv, please email listserv@listserv.louisville.edu and type: subscribe gsc your-email@address in the body of the email message (For example: suscribe gsc john.doe@louisville.edu). You will then be emailed information on how to use the listserv.

President: Tim Brauch - Mathematics

Vice President: Tim Robertson - Political Science

Secretary: Henry R. Luka - Educational and Counseling Psychology

Treasurer: Amber Carrier - Biology

Travel Administrator : Harrison Simrall - Physics & Mathematics

Graduate Teaching

If you are a graduate teaching assistant, you have a distinct set of responsibilities. You should have a faculty member in your department supervising your teaching. You should be very familiar with the Student Bill of Rights and with the Faculty Bill of Rights; both are in the graduate catalog.

All new international graduate teaching assistants, with the exception of those teaching a foreign language, must demonstrate their level of proficiency in the English language before they may begin their teaching. Information about the times and places for the examination may be obtained at the University of Louisville Testing Services (<http://www.louisville.edu/a-s/iesl/>).

You should remember that the job of teacher is one of great responsibility--you must convey information, knowledge, and serve as a role model for your students. To that end, it is important that you remain impartial, that you observe the rules of confidentiality, that you are sensitive to the needs and demands of your students, that you avoid any hint of sexual harassment. This seems like a long list, but it is very manageable and should become almost second nature in time.

Getting Started

The first thing you will want to do is make sure you get your university-issued identification card, also known as your Cardinal Card. The Campus Card office is located on the Belknap Campus in the lower level of the Houchens Building in room 08K. Office hours are 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m., Monday - Friday. This is the main university portal. It is the main functional page for ALL programs, operations, functions, etc. of the university. Through ULink, you will be able to register for your classes, check your financial aid, obtain your grades and use many other personalized features. You can get technical help and learn about free software and services available to you as a student. It is also an entry point for all programs at the university from NetMail, Groupwise, BlackBoard and more.

Go to: <https://ulink.louisville.edu/>, to ULink, the university portal.

1. Under the “Log In” section, select the link For First-time Users
  2. Follow the 2 steps for locating your userID and then use the formula for calculating your password for the first login.
  3. Once you have logged in, you will be prompted to change your password.
  4. This new password will be of your own choosing and the university does not keep record of it.
  5. You will need to wait 10 minutes before you can use this new password.
  6. Your userID and this password will now work for ULink, NetMail and Blackboard.
- NetMail is an email account assigned to every student at the university. Go to www.netmail.louisville.edu. Netmail is a basic email program and is where you will receive important information from the university or your professors. Please become familiar with how to view mail, send mail and add attachments as well as all the other features of this email program.
  - BlackBoard is the university's online classroom system. Your class may be fully online or web-enhanced, using BlackBoard as only one component of the course. BlackBoard has features such as course documents, units, lessons, assignments, video and audio features, chat session and discussion boards as well as assessments and tests.

Go to: <https://blackboard.louisville.edu/webapps/login>, to BlackBoard, your online classroom.

4. Locate the course you want to enter and click on it.
5. Spend some time learning to navigate thru the course and become familiar with the set up and other features. Not all online courses are set up alike.

Benefits

There are many benefits available to you as a student at UofL. The first and most important benefit is a quality education, but other benefits are not that obvious. For instance, did you know that...

- As a student of A&S, you can take courses or participate in activities of other A&S departments. For example, you are able to take classes in the Department of Military Science ROTC or sit in on symposiums presented by other departments.
- You can use your UofL Cardinal Card to ride the Louisville public transportation system, TARC, for free.
- UofL students can purchase software at reduced rates at the UofL bookstore and online using ULink.
- The university provides a high-speed wireless internet access in many classrooms and public areas on the campus. For more information on wireless networks and downloads of the client software, please visit <http://www.louisville.edu/it/wireless/>

TARC has more than 50 routes that travel through Louisville and Southern Indiana. Individual route schedules and maps are available in the SAC, the lobby of the Houchens building and Ekstrom library. You can also go online at <http://www.ridetarc.org> or call customer service at 502/585-1234

TARC buses only stop at TARC bus stops. These are clearly marked by red signs along every route. Destination signs above the front bus window display the route number, the route name and the destination of the bus.

All TARC buses are bike rack-equipped and will carry most bicycles. This is a great way to get around the entire Louisville area, and it takes less than 10 seconds to load your bike on the rack. Each rack can carry two bikes and space is first come, first served.

The City of Louisville

If you know the story of Goldilocks and the Three Bears, you will understand Louisville: it is not too big, not too small, but just right!

Louisville is 16th largest city in the U.S. and the largest city in the state, with lots to see and do, there are over 90 Louisville attractions. Call 1-888-Louisville for tourist information. Some of Louisville's attractions are:

- Fourth Street Live!: Louisville's $70 million entertainment district has revitalized downtown, adding a variety of restaurants and entertainment venues.

Known as the "Run for the Roses" or "the greatest two minutes in sports," the Derby is the first leg of the Triple Crown of Thoroughbred horse racing and is the biggest event on the Louisville calendar. The Derby is preceded by two weeks of festivities kicked off by Thunder Over Louisville, the largest and longest fireworks display in the nation.
- Six Flags Kentucky Kingdom: Featuring more than 110 rides and attractions, including eight roller coasters, innovative shows, special concerts and events, games, gift shops and restaurants.
- Muhammad Ali Center: The Muhammad Ali Center serves as both a destination site and a international education and cultural center that is inspired by the ideals of its founder Muhammad Ali.

These include The Speed Museum of Art, The Kentucky Derby Museum, Frazier International History Museum, Actor's Theater of Louisville and The Kentucky Center for Performing Arts. ### How to Dress in Louisville

Although Louisville experiences four distinct seasons, summer tends to come early, fall lasts easily into December, and the relatively short winters bring more rain than snow. March is usually the wettest month, October the driest.

Spring can have warm days but cool nights can linger. To stay warm, long-sleeved shirts or light sweaters are suggested. An umbrella will come in handy.

Summer can be very hot and humid. Bright, light-weight clothing is a must.

Fall, like spring, can have fluctuating temperatures between day and night, so have sweaters or light jackets ready.

Layering is the key to the winter months. Long sleeves, sweaters, medium to heavy coats, hat and gloves should be included in your wardrobe.
